The President's Message.

The President has sent the following message to the Senate and House of Representatives

I submit to Congress a report of the Secretary of State, to whom was referred the concurrent resolution of the 18th instant respecting a submission to the Legislatures of the States of an additional article to the Constitution of the United States It will be seen from this report that the Secretary of State had, on the 16th instant, transmitted to the Governors of the several States certified copies of the joint resolution passed on the 13th instant proposing an amendment to the Constitution Even in ordinary times a question of amending the Constitution must be justly regarded as of paramount importance This importance is at the present time enhanced by the fact that the joint resolution was not submitted by the two Houses for the approval of the President and that of the thirty six States which constitute the Union, eleven are excluded from representation in either House of Congress although with the single exception of Texas they have been entirely restored to all their functions as States in conformity with the organic law of the land, and have appointed at the National Capitol by Senators and Representatives, who have applied for and have been refused admission to the vacant seats Nor have the sovereign people of the nation been afforded an opportunity of expressing their views upon the important questions which the amendment involves Grave doubts therefore may naturally and justly arise as to whether the action of Congress is in harmony with the sentiment of the people and whether State Legislatures, elected without reference to such an issue, should be called upon by Congress to decide respecting the ratification of the proposed amendment Waiving the question to the constitutional validity of the proceedings of Congress upon the joint resolution proposing the amendment or as to the merits of the article which it submits through the Executive Department to the Legislatures of the States, I deem it proper to observe that the steps taken by the Secretary of State, as detailed in the accompanying report, are to be considered as purely ministerial, and in no sense, whatever, committing the Executive to an approval or recommendation of the amendment to the State Legislatures, or to the people on the contrary a proper appreciation of the letter and spirit of the Constitution as well as of the interest of national order harmony and union and a deference for an enlightened public judgment, may at this time well suggest a doubt whether any amendment to the Constitution ought to be proposed by Congress and pressed upon the Legislatures of the several States for final decision, until after the admission of such loyal Senators and Representatives of the unrepresented States as have been or as may hereafter be chosen in conformity with the Constitution and laws of the United States ANDREW JOHNSON

Washington, D C, June 22, 1866

To the President

The Secretary of State, to whom was referred the concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress of the 18th instant, in the following words "That the President of the United States be requested to transmit forthwith to the executives of the several States of the United States copies of the article of amendment proposed by Congress to the State Legislatures to amend the Constitution of the United States, passed June 13, 1866, respecting citizenship, the basis of representation, disqualification for office and validity of the public debt of the United States and to the end that the said States may proceed to act upon the said article of amendment and that he requests the executive of each State that may ratify said amendment to transmit to the Secretary of State a certified copy of said ratification,' has the honor to submit the following report, namely That on the 16th inst, the Hon Amos Cobb, of the Committee of the House of Representatives on Enrolled Bills, brought to this department, and deposited therein, an enrolled resolution of the two Houses of Congress, which was thereupon received by the Secretary of State and deposited among the rolls of the department, a copy of which is hereunto annexed Thereupon the Secretary of State, on the 16th instant, in conformity with the proceeding which was adopted by him in 1865 in regard to the then proposed and afterwards adopted Congressional amendment of the United States concerning the prohibition of slavery, transmitted certified copies of the annexed resolution to the Governors of the several States together with a certificate and circular letter A copy of both of these communications is hereunto annexed Respectfully submitted

Department of State, Washington, June 16, 1866

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, June 16, 1866

To His Excellency the Governor of the State of—

SIR I have the honor to transmit an attested copy of a resolution of Congress proposing to the Legislatures of the several States a fourteenth article to the Constitution of the United States The decisions of the several Legislatures upon the subject are required by law to be communicated to this department An acknowledgment of the receipt of this communication is requested by your Excellency's obedient servant,

(Signed) WM H SEWARD

The accompanying paper is the certificate of a true copy of the concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution

SOMNAMBULISM —We know of a well authenticated and curious case of somnambulism which happened in a town not far from New York, last week A young lady came over to the city, Thursday, and went with her uncle and aunt to spend the day in Central Park On the way they had a talk with the conductor of one of the cars near the Astor House, as to which route they should take to the park This discussion seems to have impressed itself on the young lady's mind; for the following morning she rose, dressed herself, put money in her purse, went to the station, bought a ticket and a return ticket for this city twelve miles distant, came into Hoboken on the cars, crossed the ferry, and was talking to a conductor near the Astor House, when she awoke! She immediately took a return train for home, and her arrival, an hour after, much relieved her friends who were searching for her in the town

Somnambulism seems to be epidemic in that place, for we hear of another quasi case on Friday night, as follows A gentleman residing there and doing business in this city has a little son who is given to sleep-walking expeditions now and then about the house On the night in question the gentleman awoke saw "something white" moving about the room, and told his wife, "there's C, he is walking in his sleep again" He got out of bed to wake C, when the "something white" moved rapidly towards the window and out, to the great alarm of the gentleman, who thought his boy had jumped out of the window in the dead of the night.

Meanwhile the mother visited the nursery and found her boy safely and soundly sleeping in bed The gentleman returned from his frantic rush to the window, where, by-the-by, he saw "something white" get into a wagon and drive rapidly away, to find that his pantaloons pockets were minus a pocket book containing a few autographs of F E Spinner and a check for one hundred and fifty dollars.—New York World

THE WHITE HOUSE.

A New Mansion for the President of the United States—The Present Unhealthy Location to be Abandoned in Summer—The White House of the Past and of To-day.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer

It is proposed in Washington, and the proposition meets with general approbation to build a new house for the President in an airy, elevated part of the city, sufficiently removed from the neighborhood of the Potomac For several years past our Presidents have been compelled to change their place of sojourn in summer from the official residence to some situation more favored by nature than the house chosen for the habitation of the President Mr Buchanan went to the "Soldiers' Home" Mr Lincoln imitated him in this particular, and Mr Johnson will be required to follow that example The President's house may have been well located when Washington was laid out by Maj L'Enfant, but if so, the changes of time have operated to make the location insalubrious, and there are no means of correcting the evil Hence a change is demanded as a matter of necessity The White House was, no doubt, a magnificent mansion in its day, but it has outlived its splendors, and, taken all in all, is a shabby affair It was once sufficient for the accommodation of our Presidents and their visitors, when the population of the United States was small There was some opportunity then for the privacy of the Executive and his family But of late years, the President's house is run down with visitors who claim a right to roam over it at will and penetrate all its mysteries, if bolts and locks do not interfere Owning the premises—such is the theory—there are some people who consider it no disgrace to mutilate their own property by cutting curtains and hangings, pocketing knobs and small ornaments and taking possession of any article that can be readily stolen

The White House is, in fact a hotel into which people go whenever they please lounge round until they are tired, and then depart, with the intention of making another visit at a convenient time Now this free and easiness may be intensely republican, and in accordance with our Democratic tendencies, but it is vulgar nevertheless, and it has been endured sufficiently long to call for a new regulation It will be impossible, however, to introduce any radical reform in the present building It is not constructed so as to suit the convenience of the occupant, or of those who are really obliged to resort to it upon business, and it is not supplied with many improvements which are to be found in ordinary dwelling houses in our large cities Our Presidents are cabined, cribbed, confined in the White House, and it would be for the public advantage, and certainly to the public credit to build a mansion suitable for the official residence elsewhere Such an edifice would require three distinct classes of apartments for the use upon different occasions There should be comfortable and spacious accommodations for the President and his family, entirely separated from those portions of the building devoted to business, with their own doors of entrance and exit and to shut off from other parts of the house that the most impudent and indefatigable intruder could never come therein There should be extensive saloons and apartments for public receptions and levees, except when they were to be used by the desire of the President There should also be sufficient office accommodations, with rooms for secretaries and attendants, and cabinet consultations, and large ante rooms for persons awaiting interviews

All these necessities are required to be accommodated in the present executive mansion which is only 175 feet long, and exceeded in dimensions by numerous private mansions throughout the country In sixty six years this country has expanded considerably, and the means of travel have been so improved that Washington has become a constant place of resort by persons on business and pleasure to the number of many thousand during the year There are few who have visited that city who have not wondered at the insignificant appearance of the residence of the President and there are few who have entered the house who will not agree that it is time to replace a building which might have been quite sufficient for every needful purpose in its day with something more extensive and more suitable, not only for the occupancy of the Chief Magistrate but for the proper transaction of the business of those persons who are obliged to visit him in relation to public affairs

Prospects of the Crops.

The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture says The returns of five thousand correspondents in all parts of the country having been received from the 1st to the 10th of June shows that the apprehensions of scarcity of crops which might threaten compulsory economy of consumption, or warrant extraordinary prices, are groundless From a careful analysis of the statistical returns, with due regard to the usual average product and present losses of each State, the prospect on the 1st of June was for seven tenths of a crop

With favorable weather and the absence of casualties before harvesting the indications point to three fourths of an average total yield of wheat Ohio and Indiana appear to have suffered most from winter killing A prospect for 84 per cent of a crop of winter wheat is sufficiently discouraging An increase by four tenths of the average breadth of spring wheat will afford some relief and ought to bring up the total average to half a crop Ohio is reported at four tenths for winter wheat with two and a half tenths more for spring wheat than usual A very little better prospect for winter wheat than Indiana, and not quite so large an increase of spring wheat, will give about the same result—half an average crop

Illinois, now our greatest wheat growing State, promises seventh tenths of a crop of winter wheat, and as the spring wheat which is the main dependence for a crop in portions of the State, is nearly as good as usual, at least three fourths of a crop of wheat should be expected in this State

In Wisconsin the winter wheat is reported at six and one third tenths, with one and three quarters more spring wheat than usual, which should secure three fourths of an average crop for this State

In Iowa the appearances of winter wheat is about nine tenths, spring ten and three fourths tenths, and breadth of the latter sown twelve and one eighth tenths This should give, at least, an average crop for Iowa

In New York, winter wheat eight and four ninths tenths spring wheat nine and three fifths tenths, or about eight tenths for the crop as a whole

In Missouri a prospect for a full crop of winter wheat is reported, with one half tenth or five per cent more than the usual breadth of spring wheat looking nearly as well as usual at this season of the year

Kentucky is reported at five and two thirds tenths

Michigan at seven and one half tenths

Minnesota ten and five ninth tenths for winter wheat and nine tenths for spring wheat

Kansas fourteen and one third tenths for winter and twelve tenths for spring wheat

In New England, except in Massachusetts, a full breadth of spring wheat is sown looking better than an average in Maine and a fraction lower than an average in the other States Winter wheat, where it is grown at all has suffered to the extent of one and two tenths, and in Vermont and Connecticut three tenths

New Jersey is placed on the same list with New York and Pennsylvania, eight tenths, and Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia will each average about six tenths.

The section West of the Mississippi comprising Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas taken together, promises more than an average crop of wheat

Winter Rye—The winter rye shared the fate of the wheat but in a less degree The injury was greatest in Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Michigan and Indiana Delaware, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Vermont come next in order Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota are the only States above the average, while Missouri and New Hampshire are reported as ten tenths

Winter Barley—Ohio promises little more than half a crop, Vermont, six tenths, and Connecticut, Iowa and Illinois, eight-tenths New Hampshire and Massachusetts, ten tenths, Kansas, thirteen tenths, Nebraska, fifteen tenths The average will be about eight and a half tenths

The spring barley, while varying in promise in some of the States, will average ten tenths

Oats—The average of this crop is larger than usual in nearly all the States The appearance of the crop is in Indiana eight tenths, in Illinois eight and a half tenths; in Ohio and Michigan nine tenths, in the other States ranging from nine to thirteen-tenths Rhode Island, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska being above the average The crop indicates an average yield

Clover—More clover was sown than usual and is reported in full average condition In Delaware and Missouri its appearance is worse, though the increased average will make up the deficiency Maryland, New Jersey, Illinois and Kansas fall a little below the average Maine thirteen and one-sixth tenths

Pastures—Returns have been unfavorable to the dairy interest A very general falling off is observed in the pastures except in the States beyond the Mississippi

Maple Sugar and Molasses—This product will average nine and three quarter tenths, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Delaware, ten tenths, the other New England States, nine and a quarter tenths The Middle and Western States seven to nine-tenths

Sheep—The sheep took the field this spring in better condition than usual In some places neglect and consequent disease and death are reported arising from depreciation in prices of wool.

THE RECEIPTS OF INTERNAL REVENUE

CINCINNATI, June 25

A dispatch to the Commercial, dated Brownsville, Texas June 18th says A train of two hundred and fifty wagons, with valuable merchandise, started by Gen Mejia from Matamoras for the frontier, guarded by 1 600 Imperial troops under Gen Olvera, were attacked on the 16th, between Camargo and Marfy by Gen Escobedo, at the head of four thousand Liberals Imperial loss five hundred killed and wounded and eight hundred prisoners, fourteen pieces of artillery and the entire train of wagons, valued at two millions Liberal loss slight Gen Olvera seriously wounded, escaped capture.

Corbins is reported between Matamoras and the strugglers Olvera will capture many prisoners

These facts have been gathered from letters from Escobedo's headquarters One hundred Imperial cavalry, arrived at Matamoras corroborate the statement

NEW ORLEANS June 21

Arrived, Gen Washington and Morning Star from New York Sailed, steamers Alabama, Monterey for New York, Star of the Union for Philadelphia and Kensington for Boston

A Brownsville correspondent says In the late attack and capture near Matamoras three regiments of Imperial Lancers and one large Imperial infantry regiment turned to the Liberal side An Austrian regiment lost all their officers and many, but two killed The guards lost only one hundred—all killed The value of the train captured is a million and a half

Bagdad was evacuated by the troops sent to reinforce Matamoras, which is in danger of attack by Escobedo

NEW YORK June 25

Dr Swinburne has paid a visit to the hospital ship His statement concerning all sides there is full of encouragement There were no admissions to the hospital yesterday and no deaths—Dr Swinburne states that there is not now a single case of cholera on the bay All those on board the hospital ship who are sick have recovered from all symptoms of the cholera and are only detained in the hospital by a lingering fever that often follows the disease

It is a remarkable fact that since the departure of the German and Irish emigrants on board the steamer Union, a period of over twenty two days there has not been a single case of cholera on board that vessel The German passengers are transferred to the Portsmouth and will remain there for a few days yet but the passengers, about 150 chiefly English and Irish who were returned on board the Union will be landed this morning to Castle Garden and the steamer herself will be up in a day or two There have been altogether fifty eight cases treated at the hospital ship from the steamer Union

Another case of cholera was reported at the office of the Board of Health yesterday It was that of a woman by the name of Margaret McCarty residing in West Fourth street She had been ill five days and died yesterday morning, as the physician said of the worst cholera morbus

About 1 000 Fenians assembled outside of Jones Wood yesterday and listen d to a long speech from the Chief Organizer, James Stephens The greeting he received was very enthusiastic and his appearance was hailed with considerable animation He concluded with the assurance that before the close of the present year the sunburst should be unfurled in Ireland

Morning papers contain the following specials from Washington

The express company that left the South since the war have had a meeting at their Board of Directors to take into consideration steps to raise money to keep up the company It appears that seventy per cent of the stockholders have quit paying up the frequent assessments and though one and a half millions have been called in only four hundred thousand dollars have been paid It was finally agreed that all stockholders who would not pay up $30 per share at once should forfeit all they have paid in to those who have paid the 40 per cent

The nomination of Provisional Governor Johnson of Georgia, as Minister to Russia will, it is said, be followed this week by two other Provisional Governors to important positions It is not probable that they will be confirmed by the Senate, as Holden cannot take the test oath and it is doubtful about Johnson The boundless claims of a large number of the Collectors Assessors and Postmasters have not yet been sent to the Senate by the President It is not probable that many of them will fill of confirmation owing to the little time allowed by the Senate to investigate their characters

The President stated to day that he would send into the Senate a nomination for Naval Officer vice Odell deceased There are a number of New York politicians here looking for it but it is not certain who will be appointed

The aggregate receipts of internal revenue for the fiscal year promises to reach, without doubt, the round sum of $310,000 000 and of revenue from all sources $540 000,000 Supervisor Henry Smith, of New York is here It is reported that he is here to make a tender of the new Court House to the Government for a postoffice If accepted the Supervisors of course will immediately proceed with the construction of another costly and elegant building

Intelligence has been received at the Navy Department that the Minnatonomah, with Capt Fox, was spoken the 7th inst, about one hundred miles from St Johns Newfoundland, with all well on board Intelligence of her arrival out is expected this week

The Tribune learns, through a private letter received in this city from a gentleman now in Mexico, that the French transport which left Vera Cruz on the 6th inst had on board the sum of $5,000 000, which was being sent to France as a part of the balance due from the Emperor of Mexico to the French Government

The Tribune's Washington special says The new tariff is so near completed that it is expected the Committee can finish it at their session to morrow They have so far cut down what is known among American manufacturers as the Colwell tariff, prepared with great labor, after consulting various interests that were asking protection, that a number of the leading interests say they will have no protection, &c, and already combinations are being made on the floor to so amend the bill as to give it a protective character

The endeavor to obtain a duty of one cent per pound upon sodaash, which is now all imported, until some extensive works could be built up that will enable American manufacturers to supply the same article at two cents per pound, which during the war rates from four to twelve cents, failed yesterday Mr Morrill thought because there were now no manufactories here for that purpose, and ash should come in free of duty and the Committee refused the advance

Drugs, chemicals and dyestuffs, wines and liquors and other like articles, from which a source of great revenue could be derived, are to be passed over entirely for want of time

The Baltimore coal men wanted a duty of $10 to protect them from the Nova Scotia article, mined close by the seaboard. They will only get forty cents—not the amount of Internal Revenue taxes

The Result of the Election.

Whatever the result of an election, it is always succeeded by complaints and heart burnings on the part of disappointed office-seekers and their personal adherents. Nothing, however, is so ruinous to the prospects of a politician as his bolt from regular nominations. If a defeated candidate, who uses all the resources at his command, fails, it is his interest to bow with grace and submission to the popular verdict, and if he has not the magnanimity to yield his support to his rival, it would be a short-sighted and suicidal policy on his part to counsel or connive at a factious opposition to the people's choice. A factious opposition only shows that he thinks more of his personal claims and grievances than of the harmony and integrity of his party, or the principles it represents.

The result of the vote in Titusville shows that Capt. Fred C. Peck was the choice of a large majority of our citizens for the office of Sheriff, and a very general solicitude was felt that he would be the lucky man. The latest returns bring us the unwelcome intelligence that he is defeated. It becomes us now to lay aside our personal preferences, and give to his competitor a united and hearty support. We say on behalf of that gentleman, that we believe him amply qualified for the position, and that he will discharge its duties in an honorable and acceptable manner.

The nomination of Mr. J. T. Chase, is especially gratifying to this community, and we tender to Western Crawford our acknowledgments for their generous support of our local representative. Mr. Chase and his friends rallied nobly to the support of his colleague, Capt. J. Boyd Espy, of North Shenango, giving him a vote scarcely less complimentary.

H. L. Richmond, Esq., who was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress a few years since, has been nominated for Law Judge. The vote of Titusville is a flattering testimonial to Mr. Richmond of our appreciation of his services to our party and of his high standing as a lawyer.

The intelligence of the nomination of Mr. Finney, which seems to be assured by the latest returns, was received in our city with the liveliest feelings of satisfaction. Judging from his popularity here, we were not prepared to find that the contest was so close between himself and Mr. Pettis. When we take into account, however, that he refused to canvass the county in person, and address his constituents, while his opponent held several meetings in various parts of the county and adopted all the arts of personal address and solicitation, of which he is so subtle a master, we need not be surprised at the result.

We are glad to perceive on the part of most of Mr. Pettis' supporters in Titusville a philosophical acquiescence in the result, and an acknowledgement that they will give to Mr. Finney, in case he is nominated in the district, an earnest support, conceding his eminent fitness for the position and his claims upon the party for eminent service its ranks.

We understand that some disaffected persons arrived here from Meadville on Sunday last smarting under the defeat of some candidate on the "Pettis slate," and vowing that by hook or crook Mr. Finney must be defeated, and that it had been agreed to contest the legality of the vote in some townships, and towns, Titusville included. Yesterday the conspiracy originating with parties who are not citizens of Titusville began to take tangible form and no little public indignation was expressed at this base and monstrous attempt to disfranchise the citizens of Titusville. We have too much faith in the intelligence, candor and political sagacity of the Board who will examine the returns to think that they can entertain such a proposition for one moment. No election that we ever attended was conducted with more fairness. The Judges were men of the highest character and intelligence in this city embracing in their number two members of our Common Council Col Keese and N. B. Bates. The question of citizenship and residence was invariably settled when the party offering his vote, was personally unknown, and all the precautions taken to prevent imposition which are adopted in a regular election.

From the peculiarities of our situation and the absorbing nature of our business, little general interest had been felt in ordinary political contests. And at our last Spring election, much surprise was expressed at the largeness of the popular vote as compared with previous occasions. But the election which has just transpired developed a much lighter vote than we anticipated, inasmuch as public attention has been constantly directed of late to its importance in a legal point of view—to the necessity of electing a Representative to Congress, who would attend to the petroleum interests of this section, and a Member of Assembly, who would advocate our claims for a new County. And yet the vote of Friday last was very little in excess of that of the Mayoralty election, while it is a fact that will not admit of dispute, that three quarters of our citizens are Republican in politics.

Probably in no place of its size outside the oil regions are there so many male adult citizens in proportion to the population as in Titusville, and we doubt not if a full vote were had in October next, it would approximate to six or seven hundred. But as we said before, we have no fears that this conspiracy on the part of disaffected persons to disfranchise our citizens, will meet with any countenance or support from our brethern of a like political faith. We only mention it to indicate the desperate and unscrupulous courses to which a faction can be driven by the partizan animosity those who seem determined to distract and split our party and destroy its ascendency in Crawford county unless they can rule it.

CORRECTION.—Charley Matthews, not "Williams" as we stated yesterday is the steward of the American Hotel. He was formerly connected with the Morey Farm Hotel and the Moore House in a similar capacity.

Are Deserters Voters?

The law of Congress declares they are not, and the question coming up before the Supreme Court of this State, that Bench have decided that the mere writing deserter opposite to a soldier's name on an enrollment list is not sufficient to disfranchise him. A majority of the Court have held the election officers are not qualified to decide the question of disfranchisement, and that the act of desertion must be first established by regular trial, when if guilty the vote of the citizen may be rejected. The point of the constitutionality of the law in question was left wholly untouched. The law of Congress on this subject was imperatively called for at the time to maintain the discipline and efficiency of of the army as well as the safety and honor of the country. The danger from desertion has ceased with the war, and certainly if traitors—those who bore arms against us are to be pardoned it would seem no less just to restore to citizenship those who have been guilty of a much less heinous offence in the eye of the law.

It is highly proper that the fact of desertion should be referred to a Court of Justice, and the ordinary rules of evidence applied to the investigation. A fairer adjudication will be arrived at in this way than is possible in the haste and excitement which usually attend the proceedings of an election, involving a personal and party contest, at least under the present machinery of the law regulating elections. At the same time, if a deserter should vote, in default of a previous legal conviction for desertion he would still incur the penalties which attach to those exercise the right of suffrage without authority of law. This fear of punishment is sufficient to deter him from such an act.

How a Democratic Auditor General was taken by Sharpers.

The Harrisburg Telegraph speaking of the reckless disregard for the public credit by State officials as illustrated in the case of Gen. Slenker, the late Democratic Auditor General, says the Petroleum Bank of Titusville, Crawford county, and the Venango Bank of Franklin, Venango county, had deposited with the Auditor General something like a million and a half of United States securities, as security for their circulating medium. By a rule in the Auditor General's office, as the notes of these banks were sent to that department for cancellation, such securities were returned to the officers of said banks in amounts equal to the notes cancelled. It is alleged, now, that Mr. Culver, with others implicated, who were neither officers nor agents of the Petroleum or the Venango Banks, procured from the Auditor General's office the securities thus deposited, that the officers connected with the Auditor General's office could not but have known that these securities were not being possessed by the officers of said banks, from the very fact that they were sent hence from the Auditor General's office to the branch banking house of Culver, Penn, & Co., New York city. And Gen Slenker assumed a fearful responsibility, when he thus permitted irresponsible parties to carry from the Auditor General's office, a million and a half of money, to which they had no claim. The question now arises whether, by the act of the late Auditor General, the State is not made responsible for the loss.

Letter from Enterprise—The Wells, Developments, &c.—A Bull after a Spiritualist.

ENTERPRISE, June 25

Editor Morning Herald:

Absence from our village has prevented our forwarding information in regards to business and things in general. The retirement of the sequestered vale of the upper part of Pithole Creek, has not been so conducive to the health and temper and, as it might have been, and as the swallows homeward fly, so gladly we hailed the mandate that called us hither, to hear that we were once again approaching to civilized life—Business generally speaking has been gloomy, and no reaction slow in coming. To make one slight exception, the lumber business has been moving, considerable rafting having been done in direction of Western cities and districts watered by Pine and Oil Creeks; the many thousand feet that have been held to meet the exigencies of the market, are rapidly disappearing, but at almost ruinous prices. The depreciation of value as may be compared with prices attained in the spring of 1865 are almost unexampled. Pine in 1865 worth $50 per thousand feet, could hardly be produced in sufficient quantities; now $20 is the outside rate, and forced sales at even less—very discouraging work for those capitalists who invested when oildom was indeed an Eldorado, and almost confident as many were that dived into the production of petroleum, that a fair interest would be paid on capital invested, are wofully deceived in the result; but let us hope and hope on for the good times to come. Bogus oil companies and bogus speculations are playing rapidly out, and business is now assuming legitimate proportions. The better the chance now for the pushing man.

The continued success of the Nettleton well, which rates 32 barrels daily, has stirred the operators here to go deeper with their wells; Stanton Oil Company having shown the initiative by drilling their wells deeper, say 100 feet, and even still deeper if the oil they find cannot be obtained at that depth.

The Messrs. R. D. Benson & Co., have commenced development on their extensive territory having started up one well. This very enterprising firm have done a great deal to enhance the position of our section, having two large steam saw mills running continuously, planing mill, wagon shop, and also an extensive Dry Goods and Grocery store, all sprung up within the past year. Building too is progressing and favorable inducements are offered to those who are in search of the picturesque to locate among us, town lots being offered at reasonable rates.

Dr. Holtcom, an old settler has opened up an extensive drug store a want that was urgently required.

An amusing incident occurred on the Carpenter lot of the Joy Farm adjacent to this a short time since. A party of operators proceeded thither accompanied by an individual of spiritualistic doctrine, for the purpose of locating some four wells. This disciple of Cagliostro after indulging in some pantomimic evolutions, of which the peculiar manipulations of the right hand formed no inconsiderable part, in, describing an infinite number of extraugant semicircles, had located three wells and with head depressed and evidently holding close communion with his master spirit, proceeded to locate the fourth. Crossing a field occupied by a single tenant, who appeared contentedly mowing the scant heritage, he approached still bent on his oily mission. The power of attraction was great, a collision appeared imminent when suddenly a roar such as can only emanate from a young two year old bull deafened the ears of the terrified rapper, who with the credit worthier of a better cause wheeled sharp round and at 2:40 time made for the fence closely pursued by the now infuriated son of Taurus, escaping the expected introduction of horn by almost a hair's breadth.

The fallacy of such ridiculous assumptions that man can by invoking his familiar spirit stake out the actual location of petroleum is beyond sensible comprehension, and about as wise an attempt as to try and extract sunbeams from cucumbers.

Yours, respectfully J. W. I.

DARING ROBBERY AT ENTERPRISE.—Yesterday morning a daring outrage was committed on the premises of No. 2 well, belonging to Stanton Oil Company, Enterprise. A valuable cable, sand pump, rope and pump were stolen. The same parties, it is presumed, visited the Bates well adjoining, and committed further depredations, abstracting sand pump, rope, &c. Robberies of this description are becoming so frequent that producers ought to resolve themselves into a Committee of Vigilance, and inflict summary punishment on the depredators.

THE severe gale of wind yesterday prostrated the telegraph wires in all directions, and consequently we are without our usual midnight dispatches and market reports.

Letter from Meadville.

MASONIC—OPENING THE SECTARIAN SCHOOLHOUSE—THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF THE ALLEGHANY AND UNITARIAN COLLEGES.

MEADVILLE, June 25.

Editors Morning Herald:

The latest Meadville sensation, always counting out the primary election, was the Masonic supper on Friday night. It has been the custom of Crawford Lodge, A. Y. M., of this city to celebrate St. John's Day in some manner, either by a supper or a festival; this year a supper was decided on, and as the 24th came on Sunday, it was appointed for Friday evening. There are about two hundred members of the city Lodge, and unnumbered Brethren; these last all received notes of invitation for themselves and ladies.

So on Friday evening, as your correspondent happens to be one of the elect, he took Mrs. Midge under his arm and traveled down town to Cullum's Hall, where the festivities of the evening were to come off. It was a jolly and a vexatious occasion; jolly—all Masonic festivals are jolly—don't the Brotherhood do things on the square?—vexatious on account of the crowd. A President's levee is hardly a more squeezable occasion. There were gentlemen by the hundred, and interlopers by the score. A lot of cheeky individuals nosed themselves in, and had the double cheek to bring ladies with them, and they swelled round through the crowd as though they were lords of all they surveyed and a little more, instead of being the subjects of deserved, but ungiven kickings.

The supper was good. The tables were heaped with dainties, cake and candies, pineapples and oranges, strawberries and cream,—more than an acre of swinish intruders could eat. And these chaps are famous for their appetites. They let some of those appetites out on Friday evening; it would amaze you if I were to write a schedule of the quantity of stuff some of them stowed away in their capacious bread-baskets.

After supper our new band came in,—our new band Messrs. Editors—ain't we proud of it? and played a few tunes; there was also a quadrille band present, and those who were inclined tripped the fantastic toe, which, according to my thinking, is a very fantastic way of saying that they danced. They kept it up till about 2 o'clock, when the musicians hagged their fiddles, the dancers eased up their heels and all went soberly home to mid-summer night's dreams.

The long agony of the primary canvass is over and before you print this letter we shall know the exact figures of Mr. Finney's majority.—There was considerable excitement here on last Friday, hardly so much, however, as on Saturday, when folks were counting noses. A dozen or two of tired horses squitely cursed the primary election which gave them perspiring exercise in the hot sun; a dozen or two of sharp-faced urchins, with an eye to the main chance peddled lemonade to the hot-throated vote distributors; a dozen or two of candidates sat apart, their faces wreathed with masking smiles which didn't half hide the anxiety that was tormenting their hearts. The interest all centred on the Congressional election; the offices below this were considered small fry affairs not worth asking about. The city split up funny; the North Ward gave Finney a handsome majority; the Fourth Ward voted to an equal degree Pettis-ly. It seems that a prophet (spell it with an "if" in this case) has some honor in his own county, for Pettis lives in the northerly boundary of the South Ward, his office being allowed the same side of the boundary, held in common with a member of the Democratic County Committee.

On Saturday there was much hurrying to and fro. The returns from different townships were eagerly counted as they came in. The corners were crowded and no policeman cleared them; stories and saloons were full; and speculations, guesses, and prophecies were many times thicker than those famous leaves which were scattered round Vallambrosa of an autumn.

The little game isn't over yet. There's many a slip between the dentjuln and the mouth, and a fellow had better not feel good over the stuff till it warms his insides. Warms? No, I take that back—it is too hot weather to talk about warming drinks. When I wrote last I was shivering inside of an overcoat; now, a hand breath of time after, I am sweltering as I sit almost in naturalis participus, for I will not frighten you by telling how few clothes I have on. In the swift revolutions of fashion, I am in hopes that the primitive fig leaf will come round again. It will not be any more than some outre of the barbarisms that the ladies now go about in, and then it will be cheap and comfortable, considerations that effect a fellow both in purse and person.

The commencement exercises of Allegheny College began yesterday by the delivery of the Baccalaureate Sermon, by the Rev. R. S. Foster, D. D., of New York city. Its subject was manhood, and it was a noble discourse. It is rather singular that the burden of the Rev. Robert Collyer's remarks to the graduating class of the Unitarian Theological School last week, were on manhood—the duty of those young men to that develop their manhood as a prerequisite for success in their chosen calling. Dr. Foster's address was delivered in the First Presbyterian Church, which was crowded. All of the commencement services, including the concert given by Leland's Band, of Cleveland, to-morrow evening, will be in this church.

The graduation of the Senior Class of the Unitarian Theological School took place last Tuesday. It was a dull, wet day, and the attendance was thin, but those who were present were amply compensated for it. The three graduates of the school are young men of marked ability. They are Messrs. Edward W. Hathway, of Fall River, Mass., George H. Hosmer, of Buffalo, N. Y., (Rev. Dr. Hosmer's son, who adds another to the many ministers in this celebrated family,) and George H. Young, of Honedale, Mass. Their dissertations were all well written papers. I have sat in a lecture room many a time and heard celebrated lecturers deliver not half so thoughtful nor eloquent discourses. Dr. Livermore, President of the school, presented to the young men their certificates of graduation, and spoke affectionately of them as not scholars only, but friends, bidding them in the future be not clergymen so much as ministers—not simply sermon writers, but ministrant servants to the people of their charges.

Mr. Collyer delivered the address to the students, to which I have alluded before. It was eloquent in its simplicity, and rich in its illustration—full of good advice, and sparkling with the gems of quick wit. Surely behind those winking eyes there is a massive brain, and beneath that plain vest is a great heart—and that's just the name to call him by, for he is a glorious representative of the old Bunyan-painted Great-Heart.

CORINTHIAN HALL—THEATRE—SAM RYAN'S TROUPE.—Last night "The Hidden Hand" was brought out with immense success to a very appreciative audience, and the play throughout was well sustained in every part and particular.—"Wool," "Capitola" and "Old Hurricane" were depicted to the life. Hardly ever have we seen better attention given or more evidence of thorough satisfaction by an audience. To-night an exceedingly attractive bill is offered—"The Octoroon." It is one of the plays of the present time, highly instructive, true to life and full of passages of the most startling effect. It is popular wherever introduced and especially so as rendered by Mr. Ryan's company. It is needless to say that Mr. Ryan takes the part of Salem Scudder, the live Yankee. A Farce, never before presented to a Titusville audience, "Rafferty Adventures," will conclude the performance. It is replete with fun of the most enjoyable kind.—Mr. Ryan is an established favorite with Titusville people, and well deserves the estimation in which he is held. His great experience and rare genius have combined to give him high rank, not only as a manager but as a Comedian. We trust he will receive that success his merits and endeavors deserve.

The Medina Horror—Sickening Details of the Murder of the Infant—Description of the Inhuman Father—His Arrest.

The account of the whipping to death of a child three years old by its father, a clergyman, because it would not say its prayers, near Medina; published in the Union yesterday, awakened the greatest indignation of our citizens against the inhuman father. The report was hardly credited, so unnatural and monstrous was the crime committed. We blush to say it, but the most sickening and dreadful part of this unparalleled horror was not published. Lindsley's (that's the monster's name) statement before the Coroner's jury, given yesterday, is corroborated by other witnesses called before the jury. The body of the child told more plainly and pathetically than words could, the terrible punishment it had undergone. Several of its fingers were broken and the balls knocked off the skin was obtained and the blood had oozed from every pore. To conceal the crime the father tied the little one's hands behind its back, and himself placed it in its coffin. While physicians were making a post-mortem examination of the body, he sat by, coolly looking at the proceedings. After a while he spoke and asked them if they had not carried "this thing about far enough." The physicians discovered no disease about the child; it died solely from excessive and cruel punishment. The little one would have been three years old next August—whipped to death because it wouldn't say its prayers.

We are told that Lindsley justifies his horrid work. He thinks it was his duty to punish the child until his will was broken and he obeyed. Lindsley was arrested yesterday and committed to jail in Albion. It was with the utmost difficulty that the officers who had him in charge could keep the citizens of Medina and neighborhood from lynching the murderer on the spot. Lindsley is a man about five feet eight inches in height, well proportioned, his black whiskers, and dark complexion. He has the appearance of a man of violent temper. As to his character hitherto we know nothing against him. He has a farm, and is reported to be a man of some means. He has not charge of an established church, but preaches occasionally—is what is called a Mission clergyman.

The murder is the all absorbing topic in Orleans county, and the passions of the people have not yet cooled sufficiently to allow them to look upon the affair calmly and say what should be done to this man who has so grossly outraged their feelings and dignity.—Rochester Union.

The Primary Election.

The contest yesterday for the Republican nomination was very exciting, and the vote polled very large. In the city the whole number of votes cast was 708, a larger number than the Republicans cast at the last Presidential election. Mr. Finney carried the North Ward by a majority of 37, and Mr. Pettis carried the South Ward by 93 majority.

The vote in the county on Congress is very close, and if the figures reported are accurate Mr. Finney will have a majority of about 50. But the figures may be varied by the official returns. We omit any table of figures to-day owing to the incompleteness of the returns received.

On the Additional Law Judgeship, Col Richmond has quite a large majority, judging from the returns received. J. T. Chase and J. Boyd Espy seem to have the inside track for Assembly. The vote to Prothonotary is a good deal "mixed," but Brooks is ahead at present and appears to have the best chance. The race between Capt. Peck and Ellsworth, for Sheriff, is close. Keep has a very large majority for Register and Recorder. Hollister has no opposition for Clerk of the Courts. The vote on Commissioner and Auditor is lost sight of in the interest felt on the higher offices.—Meadville Republican of Saturday.

In the 23d Congressional District the Democrats have brought out Mr. Jacob Zeigler, of Butler county, for Congress, against Mr. Thomas Williams. These were the contestants in the district four years ago. Mr. Zeigler drank manyfold more "lager" with his German friends in Allegheny county that year, than Mr. Clymer has this; but while the Germans relished the lager, they had no political relish for Mr. Zeigler, as he found to his chagrin when the ballots were counted.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

TITUSVILLE, June 24.

The petroleum markets have experienced a slight change. Oil has fallen at the wells to $3.09@3.50 which brings the ideas of producers and buyers more nearly together than they have been for some time. We heard of a few sales today at $3.09@3.25. Most of the producers however are holding at $3.50. Should the markets remain in this condition for any length of time, so that speculators can fill the various gaps which have recently been built, it will greatly relieve the eastern markets and tend to counteract the increase of production which has lately taken place.

The Pittsburgh Commercial of to-day says:

The following are the receipts of oil by the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers and the various railroads for the past week. Also from the first of January, with a comparative table for the same period in 1865.

	Rivers.	Rail.	Total.
Monday, June 18	4,600	...	4,600
Tuesday, June 19	2,425	2,475	4,900
Wednesday, June 20	11,138	1,570	12,707
Thursday, June 21	2,788	1,013	3,801
Friday, June 22	3,888	2,656	6,544
Saturday, June 23	5,612	1,905	7,518
Total for week	30,787	9,773	40,560
Since January 1	598,189	108,394	706,583
Receipts to June 23	569,076	178,167	747,143
Same time in 1865	512,023	57,477	207,800
Increase in 1866	119,053	60,690	539,343

The above table comprises the oil receipts for the week from various sources, including the Allegheny, Ohio and Monongahela rivers, together with the receipts of the numerous railroads. The week's receipts by the rivers reach 38,787 barrels; by rail, same time, 9,773. Total for the week 40,560 barrels, being a falling off in receipts as compared with the previous week of 27,97 barrels. This week's receipts are far in excess of any previous year. The receipts from the Smith's Ferry oil regions continue to increase steadily. The amount landed at the refineries at Manchester and Saw Mill Run was liberal, besides the amount forwarded to Cleveland and other markets. The oil business in that district continues to flourish. The oil market during the week was unsettled. The derangement in the money market and the fluctuations in gold operated as a drawback on the oil business. The sales of the week were not large. Prices have undergone no change. Crude oil sold at 13, 13¼ @13½ in bulk, and without packages. These were the current rates at the date of our last review. The markets, however, opened firm at the close. Holders were disposed to hold out for these figures. A few lots were disposed of for export. The current rates, including packages were 15½@16c, according to gravity. The supply of crude in the market at the present time is not large. Refiners have a good supply of the raw material on hand. Most of them, however, have sufficient orders on hand to use up all their surplus stocks.

The receipts and shipments by wagon, pipes and railroad on Saturday were as follows:

	Receipts.	Shipments
Crude, bbls	342	510

The following are our quotations to day

HILL & MURRY, Proprietors

GRAND EXHIBITION!

Commencing Friday Evening, June 29th, and continue every evening during the week, at the Crittenden House, Fourth street, Titusville, Pa.—Mr. E. H. Crittenden, the enterprising and popular proprietor of the Crittenden House, announces in this morning's HERALD, an entertainment for the Fourth of July, in the form of a mammoth Prize Concert. The novelty of the attraction consists in the distribution among the audience of upward of two thousand and ninety valuable gifts, amounting in the aggregate to $10,200—the grand prize being the large two story building, fronting from Spring to Diamond street, valued at $14,000.—The lot is 24 feet front by 140 feet deep. The building combined both store and dwelling, the former fronting on Spring street and having a spacious door yard, ornamented with trees and shrubbery; the store on Diamond street, adjacent to the Crittenden House, and constituting one of the most advantageous and valuable business locations in the city. The prize list also includes a one sixteenth working interest in well 108, Rocker farm, a valuable horse and buggy, two gold watches, twenty five double case silver watches, and the entire stock of wines, liquors, cigars, glassware, and furniture of both store and dwelling above described. A complete enumeration of the other prizes would occupy more than the space allotted to this notice. There will be four thousand and seventy tickets sold (two hundred for ten dollars, etc.) and every ticket holder will be registered, and every ticket numbered in duplicate. The distribution will be in charge of a committee of disinterested citizens to be selected by the audience at the time and place designated.

We have never before commended enterprises of this nature, from the fact that they are too often undertaken for purely speculative purposes, and managed by unprincipled parties who impose on public credulity. In this instance the facts are quite the reverse. Mr. Crittenden's references are (Messrs.) F. W. Janes, J. T. Chase, R. D. Fletcher, J. T. Briggs, C. C. Dutfield, and W. W. Kingsley, gentlemen who are prominently known throughout the oil region. We have carefully examined the schedule, and we confident there is nothing fictious or unreal about it. It is a matter of fact sale of unencumbered property at par value by an extensive plan of distribution among ticket holders, is in no exceptionable pecuniary aspect, and does not in any manner conflict with the common or statutory law.

Our citizens generally understand Mr. Crittenden's object in this matter. He has built and furnished at an enormous cost the largest and best hotel in the oil region. In giving it his exclusive personal attention, and devoting his entire capital to its success, it necessitates the suspension of his former business and the disposal of all other property. Every person interested in the reputation and prosperity of Titusville should appreciate the necessity of sustaining an enterprise of this character. The price of tickets is fixed at $10 each. More than half the ticket holders will receive gifts, and some of them will have abundant cause for rejoicing.
